

Focus Sections

GAIA publishes a maximum of two focus sections per year. These focus sections appear within regular GAIA issues. They are published through the collaboration of both GAIA editors and guest editors.<sup>1</sup> Additional expenses to cover editorial and production services will be borne by the guest editor(s).

Services include:

- Editorial support and coordination
- Management of the peer review process
- Copy-editing
- Layout, typesetting and printing of additional pages, where applicable
- Distribution of print copies (1.600 copies) and ensuring online availability to all subscribers through www.ingentaconnect.com/content/oekom/gaia/
- Green Open Access: Articles can be archived for free public use on personal or institutional websites and/or in institutional repositories (for Gold Open Access an additional charge applies*)
- Delivery of 50 free copies (to one address)
- Marketing (e.g., in two newsletters issued by oekom verlag (> 34,000 subscribers))

Focus section fees:

Up to 16 pages	24 pages	32 pages	40 pages	48 pages
1,050 EUR	3,100 EUR	5,200 EUR	7,500 EUR	9,600 EUR

All prices are subject to VAT.

* Gold Open Access is available for an additional charge of 1,500 EUR. In this instance, all articles in the focus section will be available free of charge through www.ingentaconnect.com/content/oekom/gaia/.

If you are interested in publishing a focus section, please contact the editorial office at gaia@oekom.de.

<sup>1</sup> Guest editors and authors should note that all articles submitted to GAIA are subject to double-blind peer review. Currently, the rejection rate for articles submitted to focus sections is around 30 %. Guest editors are required to sign a contract detailing the respective rights and responsibilities of the editor, publisher, and guest editor. The submission deadline for all articles is no later than six months prior to publication.

Special Issues

GAIA publishes a maximum of one special issue (SI) per year.

Special issues are produced and published independently of the regular GAIA issues. They are published through the collaboration of both GAIA editors and guest editors.<sup>2</sup> Editorial and production costs of special issues will be borne by the guest editor(s).

There is the option of publishing a special issue online only (SI online only).

Services include:

- Editorial support and coordination
- Management of the peer review process
- Copy-editing
- Layout and typesetting
- Printing (1,600 copies) (does not apply to SI online only)
- Ensuring online availability through www.ingentaconnect.com/content/oekom/gaia/ and distribution to all subscribers (the latter is not applicable to SI online only)
- Gold Open Access: All articles will be available free of charge through www.ingentaconnect.com/content/oekom/gaia/
- Delivery of 50 free copies (to one address)
- Marketing (e.g., in two newsletters issued by oekom verlag (> 34,000 subscribers))

Special issues fees (print and online):

64 pages	72 pages	80 pages	88 pages
21,000 EUR	23,400 EUR	25,500 EUR	27,900 EUR

All prices are subject to VAT.

Special issue fees (online only):

64 pages (online only)	72 pages (online only)	80 pages (online only)	88 pages (online only)
16,300 EUR	18,300 EUR	20,300 EUR	24,300 EUR

All prices are subject to VAT.

If you are interested in publishing a special issue, please contact the editorial office at gaia@oekom.de.

<sup>2</sup> Guest editors and authors should note that all articles submitted to GAIA are subject to double-blind peer review. Currently, the rejection rate for articles submitted to special issues is around 30%. Guest editors are required to sign a contract detailing the respective rights and responsibilities of the editor, publisher, and guest editor. The submission deadline for all articles is no later than six months prior to publication.